Advanced Filters

node	Optional	Parameter specifies the category for Amazon search results. You can find the appropriate node value by browsing Amazon's website and accessing a specific category. The node ID is typically included in the URL after the format <code>node=[NODE ID]</code> . For example, on Amazon.com, the node for Smart Home is <code>6563140011</code> , and on Amazon.co.uk, the node for Fashion is <code>11961407031</code> . Use this node value to filter search results by category.
rh	Optional	Parameter defines items filtering based on their attributes. The structure is a list of <code>key:value</code> pairs separated by <code>,</code> .
		For example <code>n:16318031,p_n_cpf_eligible:21512497011,p_72:1248897011</code> to filter for products in Coffee department (<code>n:16318031</code>) that are Climate Pledge Friendly (<code>p_n_cpf_eligible:21512497011</code>) and rated 4 Stars & Up (<code>p_72:1248897011</code>).

Pagination

page	Optional	Parameter defines the page number. It's used for pagination. (e.g., <code>1</code> (default) is the first page of results, <code>2</code> is the 2nd page of results, <code>3</code> is the 3rd page of results, etc.).

Serpapi Parameters

engine	Required	Set parameter to <code>amazon</code> to use the Amazon API engine.
device	Optional	Parameter defines the device to use to get the results. It can be set to <code>desktop</code> (default) to use a regular browser, <code>tablet</code> to use a tablet browser (currently using iPads), or <code>mobile</code> to use a mobile browser.
no_cache	Optional	Parameter will force SerpApi to fetch the Amazon results even if a cached version is already present. A cache is served only if the query and all parameters are exactly the same. Cache expires after 1h. Cached searches are free, and are not counted towards your searches per month. It can be set to <code>false</code> (default) to allow results from the cache, or <code>true</code> to disallow results from the cache. <code>no_cache</code> and <code>async</code> parameters should not be used together.
async	Optional	Parameter defines the way you want to submit your search to SerpApi. It can be set to <code>false</code> (default) to open an HTTP connection and keep it open until you got your search results, or <code>true</code> to just submit your search to SerpApi and retrieve them later. In this case, you'll need to use our Searches Archive API to retrieve your results. <code>async</code> and <code>no_cache</code> parameters should not be used together. <code>async</code> should not be used on accounts with Ludicrous Speed enabled.
zero_trace	Optional	Enterprise only. Parameter enables ZeroTrace mode . It can be set to <code>false</code> (default) or <code>true</code> . Enable this mode to skip storing search parameters, search files, and search metadata on our servers. This may make debugging more difficult.
api_key	Required	Parameter defines the SerpApi private key to use.
output	Optional	Parameter defines the final output you want. It can be set to <code>json</code> (default) to get a structured JSON of the results, or <code>html</code> to get the raw html retrieved.
json_restrictror	Optional	Parameter defines the fields you want to restrict in the outputs for smaller, faster responses. See JSON Restrictor for more details.

API Results

JSON Results

JSON output includes structured data for Featured Products, Organic Results, Product Ads, Related Searches, Sponsored Brands, Video Results and more.

A search status is accessible through `search_metadata.status`. It flows this way: `Processing` -> `Success` || `Error`. If a search has failed, `error` will contain an error message. `search_metadata.id` is the search ID inside SerpApi.

HTML Results

HTML output is useful to debug JSON results or support features not supported yet by SerpApi.
 HTML output gives you the raw HTML results from Amazon.
